Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I wish to express my opinion concerning the pending microsoft case. The proposed settlement between microsoft and doj is more than fair to consumers. The best thing for consumers is to let microsoft move on, providing consumers worldwide with the kind of software it has been producing for years. Microsoft competitors need to compete on their own, not with the aid of even more government intervention. Microsoft is the best thing that has happened to the US economy in the last quarter century. It is time for everyone to move on. The already proposed remedies are more than sufficient. People like Larry Ellison and Scott McNeely have no interest in fairness. All they care about is winning. The state attorney generals who are not accepting of the doj settlement are responding to biased interests.
